

NEWS FROM BERINDEI

'On 13 July I was blessed with Ana Maria, 3300 grams and 50 cm, who is healthy and our joy. I started back to work in the surgery as soon as I got home from the birth in Caracal hospital. Nurse Jenny is also pregnant and she felt really bad with nausea. But we both needed to work in the surgery even though it was a difficult period for us. Now Jenny is better. Our other children (Ines and Daniel) stayed with their grandparents. Now Ines is home preparing for kindergarten, and Daniel remains with the parents of Ionel.

Together with the two nurses, Jenny and Flori, this month we sent blood samples from patients to a laboratory for analysis in another town. The results are sent back to the surgery by email. We have good cooperation with an insurance company who favor us, and so patients receive free analysis.

I was visited by a lady from America who made a donation of medicines for rheumatism, which makes our old people very happy.

Ionel continues to work with the bees. He has been trying to grow the business by selling new queen bees. This year has been a good year for honey [bottom right], and in the morning (whilst I am in the surgery and home visits) Ionel takes care of the children.

Our patient files had become very thick with sheets of paper and we were running out of space on the bookshelves. So I bought new files and archived the last 8 years work into storage boxes. The new files are now light and easy to work with. The computer is supposed to reduce paper, but if you print out all the records – you end up with more paper.

Thank you for supporting our patients. Through the many hours we help them, it feels like they are part of our family – as children! Jenny my nurse will give birth in February, but she will not take maternity leave, and will continue to come and help in the surgery.'

We will send a pallet of medical supplies, children's clothes, school materials, and other supplies, to Berindei around the end of October. Ed.
